Picketing bill vetoed by Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) - An override of President Ford's veto of a bill to expand picketing rights for construction unions is considered unlikely.

Ford vetoed the bill Friday, as he had said he would do, saying it would cause 'greater, not lesser, conflict in the construction industry.

The bill, sought by labor leaders for 25 years, passed Congress this year for the first time. However, neither the House nor the Senate came close to the two-thirds majority needed to override

It was his 44th veto since he took office in August 1974 and Congress has been able to override only seven of the previous vetos

The President said there was a risk the bill would lead to loss of jobs in the construction trades, higher costs for the public and further slowdown in a basic industry

Because of Ford's announcement that he would veto the controversial

The Federal Trade Commission proposed regulations on Friday to prohibit "any false, misleading or deceptive representation, directly or by implication, of the quality, performance, reliability or lack of mechanical defects of any used motor vehicle."

Cincy man wins lottery

CLEVELAND (AP) - Now that Howard J. Brutsche of Cincinnati has won the top prize in the Ohio Lottery's Buckeye 1,000 contest, he says he is going to double his usual weekly purchase of four lottery tickets.

In Friday night's drawing, Brutsche, 55, won the top prize of $1,000 a month for life and is guaranteed at least $400,000.

Brutsche, who has been a cutter for a Cincinnati leather goods company since 1939, said he hasn't decided yet what to do with his winnings. But he added that he'll buy more tickets. "There might be something to winning again after you've won once," he said.

Ohio Lottery spokesmen said Julie M. Montich of Sharon, Pa., won $4,000; Ruth Allberry of Stockport won $3,000; Donald H. Szarle of Cuyahoga Falls won $2,000 and George Hutchinson of Mooresville, Ind., won $1,000.

In the Buckeye 1,000 the sixdigit number was 886808; the five-digit number was 38974; the four-digit number was 4723 and the three-digit number was 711.

In the Super Santa game the snowflake numbers was 48, 38, 78 and 43. The six-digit number was 574494; the five-digit was 66710 and the fourdigit number was 5616.

measure, Secretary of Labor John T. Dunlop is considering resigning. Dunlop, who wrote the bill, is unhappy because Ford originally said he would

But Ford was under heavy pressure from right-to-work factions, contractors and conservatives in the Republican party to reject the measure.

The bill would have enabled construction unions to picket and possibly shut down an entire job site even though their dispute was with only one subcontractor

It also would have provided machinery designed to bring quicker and less inflationary settlements, which Dunlop said would bring stability to the industry.

"The collective bargaining provisions have great merit; it is to the common sites picketing title that I address my objections," the President said in his veto message.

Ford said he hoped the bill would provide a resolution of special labormanagement problems and would have had the support of all parties.

"My earlier optimism in this regard was unfounded," he said. "My reasons for this veto focus primarily on the vigorous controversy surrounding the measure and the possibility this bill could lead to greater, not lesser, conflict in the construction industry.

The President said there are "intense differences between union and nonunion contractors and labor over the extent to which this bill constitutes a fair and equitable solution to a longstanding issue.

Ford has acknowledged he told Dunlop he would sign the picketing bill, but called him aside after a White House meeting last week and told him he had changed his mind.

Dunlop later told reporters he was unhappy and he wanted to take two or three weeks to consider whether to resign. Ford has urged him not to quit.

Elderly, handicapped benefiting from 'Meals on Wheels' program

By GEOFF MAVIS Record-Herald Staff Writer

A hot and well-balanced meal has become a daily part of the lives of some 25 elderly persons residing in Washington C.H. and surrounding

For only $1.10, the senior citizen may receive the nutritious food delivered at his home by a volunteer of the "Meals on Wheels" program.

The Fayette County Council for Elderly Concerns is the sponsoring agent in the project created in 1973 to 'maintain or restore an individual's health while maintaining the highest degree of independence and normality for the individual." The program not only attempts to help those aged people who are not able to prepare an adequate meal for themselves at home but it also serves the handicapped as

Currently, five volunteers each take a particular route having approximately four to five recipients on it, and deliver the meals between 11:45 and 12:45 p.m. each day except Saturdays and Sundays. The food, prepared in the kitchen of the First Baptist Church, corner of East and S. North Streets, is kept in hot and cold compartments of an insulated carrying chest until delivery

There are a total of 20 volunteer drivers in the program, and therefore, each person performs his services once a week, devoting about 20 to 30 minutes of his time on each occasion. A back-up force of eight to 10 substitutes stand ready to cover a particular route in the event that a regular volunteer must miss his day.

The Rev. Ralph Wolford, pastor of the First Baptist Church and coordinator of the program, stresses the fact that the meals should be ordered on a weekly basis, and not just for various days. If it can be demonstrated by a particular person that he is unable to afford the full cost of each meal, then 50 per cent of the expense will be paid for through special funds donated by various sponsors.

An average meal may consist of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, buttered mixed vegetables, hot rolls, pears, and cookies. The $1.10 charge covers the cost of this food and 12 cents for the sectioned metal tray in which the hot meal is served. The two cooks are salaried through the Eyman Trust Fund and the income received from the Kiddie Care Center. There is no government funding, and each volunteer driver provides services without any form of monetary reimbursement.

Though the meal service is the primary concern of the program, Rev. Wolford notes that another benefit is the fact that the daily excursions to each household also provide a means of checking up on the recipients to see if they are in good health. Each driver carries a card which lists not only the elderly person's address, but also the name and telephone number of the family physician.

Until last summer, when the Fayette County Community Action Commission provided volunteers for another daily route, there were only four lines maintained each day. According to Rev. Wolford, no one who has ordered the "Meals on Wheels" has been turned down because of lack of means to deliver the food. However, it is hoped that three more volunteers may be added to the ranks of those already serving. Any one who wishes to offer his services once a week may call Rev. Wolford at the First Baptist Church.

The Bicentennial will give an extra boost to the travel market in 1976 and there is evidence of a boom already in the nation's capital and in New England, an Associated Press sampling shows.

Suprisingly, the increased travel to historic sites in the United States is not expected to hurt overseas touring or traditional domestic spas such as Hawaii and Florida, according to an AP check of travel agents, tour organizers, airlines, resort officials and trade publications in some 25 cities at home and abroad.

'We anticipate a good domestic travel year, the best ever in the area of touring," said Alan Fredericks, editor of Travel Weekly, an industry publication that keeps tabs on organized travel.

He said airlines predicted a 6 per cent increase in travel domestically and that a "suprising number will travel overseas. 'Bicentennial will undoubtedly stimulate improvement," he said. How much of a boost is hard to predict because many will wait until the last possible moment and travel by car to an area near home.

Boost in travel in 1976

"Bicentennial travel will prove not to be just a fluke. Historical settings are popular for 1976 because most groups plan one trip a year and are going to these spots," said John Stachnik of Forlow Tours in Chicago. "This is bound to have an effect on other areas but not as much as it might seem. People are just on the go more than Stachnik said he had booked 9,000 students to Williamsburg, Va., and Washington this spring, three times the number last year. He said adult bookings were up 20 per cent.

Lynn Hilton of Debby and Hilton Travel Services in Salt Lake City, specializing in student tours, said he hired five 707s and DC8s in 1975 and has 11 under charter for this spring with plans to order 14 more. Hilton said his tours are one week long to Williamsburg, Va., Washington, Philadelphia and New York. He said he expects 1976 bookings to be 10 times the number of last year's.

"We are getting indications of interest in Bicentennial-type trips," said

Jim Phillips of Commercial National Travel Service in Little Rock, Ark. "I believe Bicentennial is going to be pretty big, but I believe it will be more individuals getting in the family car and taking a trip. Carolyn Smithee of Osborne Travel

Set hearing on Collins

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — A Lawrence County Common Pleas Court judge says he will hear arguments on whether state Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-17 Ironton, can serve as county school superintendent.

But no hearing date was set Friday after Judge Kenneth B. Ater refused to dismiss a request for a declaratory judgment on the issue. Attorneys for the school board were ordered to submit stipulations of fact prior to filing briefs supporting their request for the judgment. County Prosecutor Lloyd Moore sought to have the judgment request dismissed on grounds the issue would have to be resolved by the 4th District Court of Appeals or the Supreme Court. The school board asked for a declatory judgment after Moore threatened legal action against Collins' appointment, saying the Ohio Constitution bars a state legislator from holding other pulic office.

Jobless claims show increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - More than 6,000 layoffs, blamed on slumping steel orders and seasonal factors, drove initial unemployment claims in Ohio up 30.5 per cent in the week ended Dec. 27 over a week earlier, the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services said Friday.

Last week's total of 42,580 compared to 32,635 in the week ended Dec. 20. The latest figure included 33,796 claims under regular state law. Claims in that category jumped 43.6 per cent over the week ended Dec. 20, the bureau said. Records showed an average 50,951 persons made new applications for claims in December 1974.

About 237,000 persons continued claims from at least one week earlier, the bureau said, and 9,507 jobless workers exhausted their benefits.

Bank robbery suspects "have indicated they have a narcotics problem or they need the money for any number of things - they like to have a good time, they need it to pay bills, they want to buy gifts for a girlfriend or buy a new car," Whitson said.

The robbers themselves, he continued, "will also tell you that banks are pretty easy targets.

Many banks now are built in suburban shopping centers with easy access to superhighways, providing the robbers with a "quick getaway" from the area and even out of the city, Whitson noted.

And many banks no longer look like fortresses. Perhaps in an effort to seem more inviting to customers, banks have installed low counters at tellers' windows and have few physical barriers between the teller and the customer, he noted.

With FBI encouragement, bankers are taking more and more security precautions such as installing more sophisticated alarm systems and closed-circuit television cameras and hiring armed guards, said Cooke and

But bank robberies are increasing at a rate far higher than the nation's general crime rate.

The most recent FBI figures show that the nation's over-all crime rate was 11 per cent higher in the first nine months of 1975 than in the same period a year earlier. The statistics are based on the number of murders, rapes, robberies, burglaries, assaults, larcenies and vehicle thefts reported to local police

For the five-year period, 1969-74, robberies increased 48 per cent while all crimes together rose only 38 per cent. But during the same period, bank robberies increased 94 per cent. Only the rate for robberies of chain stores up 184 per cent — was higher.

In the first half of 1975, banks lost a total of $15.1 million to robbers and burglars but law enforcement authorities recovered $9.4 million of it.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) - Tommy Wilson already has a lot to be thankful for this year. He's alive.

Wilson, 32, was resting comfortably Friday after being shot between the eyes early New Year's Day at a prayer service in a friend's home

A hospital spokesman said the bullet traveled downward and lodged at the base of Wilson's neck.

'It was a miracle, " said Genevieve DeVoe, Wilson's host at the prayer service, "to be shot the way he was and for the bullet not to do any more damage than it did."

She said she believes area residents were shooting guns to celebrate the new year. Wilson, an unemployed father of five, and about eight others looked toward a large, drape-covered picture window when the shooting started. A shot shattered the glass and struck Wilson, she said.

price of a milk cow in 1975 is estimated at $408 nationally, down nearly onefifth from record prices of the previous two years, according to Agriculture Department dairy economists.

In 1974 the average cost of a cow was $500 and in 1973 it was $496, the department says in a year-end review of the dairy situation. The decline reflects the general slide in cattle prices since the record peaks of 1973, but also indicates that for much of the past few years the dairy business has had its financial troubles.

Recent high prices for milk, however, have changed it around and dairy farmers - according to USDA statisticians - are in the best economic situation in some time.

For example, according to the department's Economic Research Service, the slide in cow prices and the boost in what farmers get for milk means that it took an average of 48 hundredweight of milk to pay for a 1975model cow

production nationally has averaged more than 100 hundredweight per cow annually since 1970, including nearly 103 hundredweight per animal in

The analysis also showed that productivity on the nation's dairy farms has risen sharply in recent years, largely due to farmers seeking ways to survive the financial crunch. Larger herds, improved management and higher feeding rates per cow have been a part of the scene.

In 1974, for example, dairy farmers used about nine minutes of direct labor per cow to produce milk, down 6 per cent from 1973, officials said.

'Labor productivity gains in dairy farming compare quite favorably with other agricultural enterprises," the report said. "Output per man-hour in dairying more than doubled in the past decade, while the increase for all farm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's financially depressed cattle industry appears to be headed for a solid recovery, at least so far as feedlot operations are concerned, according to Agriculture Department livestock experts.

"After almost two years of depressed profits, feedlots are filling up, and feeders are once again making says George Hoffman, an analyst in USDA's Economic Research "That's not to say that everything's rosy in the cattle in-

Opinion And Comment

Fencing the town range

Alas for the freedom to roam and graze at will! Some towns in the West are taking steps to curb freeranging animals - cattle, horses, donkeys - which have made themselves a nuisance by trampling gardens and turning manicured lawns into pastures.

In the neighboring Colorado gold rush towns of Citor and Cripple Creek it's wild burros that cause the These descendants of animals brought in by prospectors around the turn of the century have become pesky to the townspeople.

Cows and horses were bad enough, but as one resident of Citor noted, 'The donkeys were smarter and could open fence gates with their

Both towns now have ordinances forbidding unsupervised meandering by animals. The burros are being rounded up and transported out of town - except for a few which will be on public view in pens as a reminder of early days.

The town of Payson, Ariz., has approached the matter differently.

A fence - some 12 to 15 miles of it will be built around the entire town to keep range cattle out on the range. It's a cooperative project involving Payson folk, the U.S. Forest Service, and ranchers in the area.

In most of the country, it is cats and dogs that cause problems and force passage of leashing laws. Out West it's different. With cows and horses and burros roaming around you've got to fence them in or fence them out if you don't want your tomato patch raided.

Cursed box yields old memorabilia

ST. LOUIS (AP) — On New Year's Day of 1876, Ezeriah Williamson Hoopes of Philadelphia wrote a curse on a simple pine box in which was placed memorabilia of the nation's

The curse, to last until Jan. 1, 1976, declared: "If any dare this box invade, Ere five score years save one, By heaviest curse be on him laid, He ne're shall have a son, But in old age shall on the world be thrown, Without a friend, Unhonored and unknown.'

For 100 years the Hoopes family honored Ezeriah's wishes. But at 2 p.m. Thursday, the box was opened by his grandchildren, Dr. Alban Williamson Hoopes of Oneonta, N.Y., and Dr. Thomas T. Hoopes of St. Louis.

"It was largely more or less what we had expected," said Thomas Hoopes, a curator of the St. Louis Art Museum from 1936 to 1964, of the box's contents. Inside the box the grandchildren found brochures advertising sewing machines, scales, harvesting equipment, yellowed newspapers, a silk hat and a "Centennial doll baby." "I remember my aunt when she was a very old lady, told me about how my grandfather had the box made," Thomas Hoopes said. "He sealed it up with nails after each member of the family had made contributions letters for posterity telling something of their lives and about life in general.

New, longer-lasting license plates set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Ohio already is stocked up for the sale next spring of more than eight million sets of red and white 1976 license plates. Walter Arrowsmith, administrative assistant in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, says the plates will have to last for three years and maybe longer. They are more stable-twice as thick as present ones

Starting in 1977, they'll be renewed annually with validation stickerssame as the old green on white 1974 tags now being used with stickers for their second year.

Arrowsmith said the new plates are made of aluminum, and will withstand weather better than the old rolled steel and galvanized steel variety Plans already are set for the same plates to be used with stickers in the 1977 and 1978 registration years. They may be extended even longer It depends, he said, on negotiations now in progress with the Minnesota

Mining and Manufacturing Co., the contractor for the laminant used to make the plates reflective.

guarantee they can offer. The plates could be used until 1980," the bureau official said

The plates, most of them already stored in a Columbus warehouse, are the same size as this year's. Letters and numerals and the border are a bright red. The background is what Arrowsmith described as a "yellowish white" that is supposed to become whiter with exposure to the sun.

Gone from the 1976 tags is the slogan "Seat Belts Fastened?", an idea of the administration of former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Curtis Andrews, registrar of the bureau, said the deletion was decided on in part because "it's awfully hard to get it (the slogan) printed on there." He also said taking it away gives more room for applying the validation

Ohio Penal Industries at Lebanon, Ohio, manufactures the plates, at a cost of about $1.29 a set. Arrowsmith said the correctional facility also is equipped to stamp the validation stickers, starting in 1977.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Total red federally inspected packing plants was down 6 per cent in November from the same month in 1974 because of a continuing slide in pork output, despite a 1 per cent increase in beef, according to the Agriculture Department.

The new figures, released by USDA late Tuesday, also showed that total red meat production in the first 11 months of 1975 was down 4 per cent from the same period of last year. Beef was up 3 per cent but there was 17 per cent less pork and 13 per cent less lamb and mutton. Veal production, on the other hand, soared 90 per cent.

More beef is produced in the United States than any other type of meat, totaling more than 21.6 billion pounds during January-November of 1975, compared with 10.3 billion pounds of pork, 750 million pounds of yeal, and 367 million pounds of lamb and mutton.

Retail prices of both beef and pork climbed to record levels earlier this year but have declined somewhat in recent months because of lower farm prices of livestock.

Department experts say that beef production will rise again in 1976 and that if farmers proceed with current breeding plans there will be more pork

During the first 11 months of the year, the average live weight of cattle slaughtered was 996 pounds, a 4 per cent drop from the 11-month average of 1,040 pounds in 1974.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sales of U.S. corn for export this season have picked up substantially, largely due to new purchases by several European countries, says the Agriculture metric tons during the week which ended Dec. 14, according to a weekly USDA export report. That was about double the sales rate of recent weeks.

The new listings boosted total corn export commitments to nearly 19.2 million tons for the 1975-76 marketing

Record exports of farm products seen

wheat, corn and other commodities from farms to ships for delivery to foreign countries is progressing smoothly and in line with record exports projected for 1975-76, an Agriculture Department analyst said

Three years ago, when the huge bulge in U.S. farm exports was just under way, the grain movement was snarled badly by shortages of rail cars and ocean carriers, port congestion and labor bottlenecks.

Deborah D. Pollock of USDA's Economic Research Service said there have been several reasons for the improved situation since that time, including the nation's economic recession, which has meant "a diminished industrial demand for transport equipment" which has meant more to help move farm products.

Also, Miss Pollock said, there is a larger rail car and barge capacity than there was in 1972-73. Another reason is that shipments were delayed for four months three years ago while a new shipping rate agreement was negotiated with the Soviet Union.

The analysis was included in a weekly "Foreign Agriculture" report by the department's Foreign Agricultural Service 'At its worst, the 1972-73 tieup saw local elevators overflowing with grain and soybeans for want of rail cars, other shipments stalled en route, and shipping of grain to many ports 'em-bargoed' because of lack of storage space," Miss Pollock said.

As a result of the 1972-73 difficulties, nearly 60 per cent of the wheat exports and about 50 per cent of the corn and soybeans had to be moved in the last half of the fiscal year between Jan. 1 and June 30

The congestion also spilled over into the following fiscal year.

This season, she said, more than 60 per cent of the wheat anticipated for foreign delivery in 1975-76 had been exported by early December. Shipments of corn also were "considerably above the average required" to reach the total projected by next June 30.

Miss Pollock said that railroads have added more large covered hopper cars to their fleets. Those are about 50 per cent larger than the traditional boxcars, which have declined in number. Thus, she said, railroads now have increased their net grain carrying capacity by about 2 per cent from 1972

NEW Policy differences RED ROSE with farmers seen

WASHINGTON (AP) - Peanut policy differences between Southern growers and Ford administration farm officials may be headed toward some type of compromise, although both ides are noncommittal at this stage.

The dispute involves changes made in government peanut price support operations by the Agriculture Department, mainly the manner in which the government is acquiring and

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has tried unsuccessfully in recent years to get peanut law changes through Congress so that growers can operate under a market-oriented "target price" system in use for wheat, corn and cotton and also to reduce federal operations - surpluses which cannot find a market - back to processors for export at cut-rate prices as done in the past. Consequently, U.S. peanut exports are dropping and government stockpiles increasing.

Another change, put into effect earlier this year for 1974-crop peanuts, is a plan by which processors crush surplus peanuts for the government and turn the oil over to USDA in exchange for keeping the meal. All told, those policies add up to higher costs to the government.

Georgia farm officials accuse Butz of engineering the more expensive policies in a deliberate attempt to discredit the program by boosting its costs and thereby calling public at-

But Kenneth E. Frick, head of the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, says the program "is so out of date" and bad to begin with that no one could discredit it further.

Although decisions have not been disclosed, Georgia farm leaders this week talked about a "two price" plan as a possible way to help trim federal costs and reach a compromise with the

Then there were seven

After regaining Madison Plains High School following a year's layoff, the South Central Ohio League had a nice round number of eight member schools going into the 1975-76 sports season.

The number will back down to at least seven after this school year, when Unioto drops from the league after a short two year

The Shermans possibly have yearnings to rejoin the Ross County League which would make Unioto the largest school in that league after being the smallest school in the SCOL

One could hardly blame the Shermans for making the switch to the RCL or to another league after floundering near the bottom of the SCOL standings in the two major sports - football and

Unioto held its own in other sports winning the SCOL baseball title the last two season and taking the goft crown in 1974, but the Shermans finished next to last in football this year and looked like sure canditates for the cage cellar after five league games

A switch to a league not comprised of class AA and AAA schools would do wonders for the Tanks moral which is reportedly very low after getting off to an 0-5 start in the SCOL cage race The stiff competition of the SCOL was undoubtedly the reason for the Shermans' pull out and it may well be the reason that East Clinton rejected an SCOL invitation for membership last fall.

The SCOL would like to keep its membership at eight schools mainly for scheduling reasons, but in recent years the league has been functioning with six or seven members

Washington C.H., Circleville, Wilmington, Greenfield, McClain, and Hillsboro were original members in the SCOL which is incidently the oldest high school athletic league in Ohio. Miami Trace joined the league in 1960 making it basicaly a six-school league which has seen Franklin Heights, Pleasant View, Madison Plains and now Unioto come and go - in the case of Madison Plains come and go and come again.

Ever since Washington C.H. threatened to pull out of the league in 1957 on grounds that the SCOL had no future expansion plans, the league has been handling out invitations to almost any school that appears interested in joining.

This year it was East Clinton, two years ago Unioto, along with London and Chillicothe were tabbed as future members.

Current league rules require new entries to fulfill at least two years of obligation. In the case of Unioto, the school could hardly wait until its two-year stint was up. The Shermans even voided this year's girls schedule much to the dismay of league officials.

Perhaps it would be better to stick with the six established schools in league until a serious and prospective long-term member shows interest in joining. member snows interest in joining.

Wake Forest upsets N.C.

GREENSBORO, N.C (AP) - Wake Forest, unbeaten but unranked, made a strong bid to move into the Top Twenty by stunning third-rated North Carolina 95-83 Friday night in a first-round matchup in the Big Four tournament.

But there's no time for pats on the back-the Deacons must face ninthranked North Carolina State in the tourney final tonight.

"We certainly deserve some attention in the national rankings," said Coach Carl Tacy, coach of Wake Forest, 9-0. A victory over North Carolina State, 8-0 and a 104-95 winner over Duke Friday behind Kenny Carr's career-high 45 points, would undoubtedly persuade many of the voters played without junior star Skip Brown, for the final 17 minutes after he injured his thigh.

In other games involving nationally ranked teams, No. 4 UCLA ran away from Denver in the second half and posted a 111-79 triumph; No. 14 Rutgers defeated Stetson 91-70, and No. 19 San Francisco edged Texas A&M 77-75 in the opening round of the Bluebonnet Classic at Houston.

Without Brown, and with Daryl Peterson in foul trouble, we showed we were made of stern stuff," said Tacy. "Those two are a good piece of our team, but without them we really pulled ourselves up by our bootstraps. For a while, we forgot we had to have a serious inside threat. But we got Rod Griffin playing like he can, and Lee Foye hit a couple inside. Mark Dale, subbing for Brown, gave us someone to control our offense when we needed it."

Jerry Schellenbergh ad 24 points for Wake Forest, Griffin 17 and Brown 16. Phil Ford of North Carolina took game honors with 30.

Coach Dean Smith of North Carolina said, "We fell behind early, when Wake Forest hit everything they threw up. Wake Forest has a very fine team, but we will be back."

N.C. State led Duke 49-48 at halftime, spurted to a 10-point lead shortly after In handing North Carolina its first intermission and was never seriously loss after six triumphs, Wake Forest threatened thereafter.

Oklahoma named grid champ

MIAMI (AP) — In this same city

where Barry Switzer saw Oklahoma's title hopes begin to fade more than three months ago, the Sooners made it all the way back and repeated as college football's national champions.

After we only beat Miami 20-17 back in September, I didn't think we could repeat," Switzer admitted Friday after Oklahoma became the seventh team in history-including Bud Wilkinson's 1955-56 Sooners-to win consecutive national crowns. "I questioned whether we could have three undefeated seasons in a row.

The Sooners didn't, finally tasting defeat in Switzer's third campaign as head coach in a shocking 23-3 loss to

But they recovered in the season's weeks with victories Missouri and Nebraska and leapfrogged from seventh place following the Missouri game all the way back to the top by downing Michigan 14-6 in the Orange Bowl Thursday night while No. 1-ranked Ohio State bowed to UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

"I've got to be the luckiest son-of-agun in the world," Switzer said. "I told the squad after the Kansas game we'd be laughing and giggling when it was all over, and now three games later we're national champions again.

'Whooo-ee! I was trying to sell 'em on that idea, baby, but I had my tongue in my cheek when I said it.'

Although they were preseason favorites in The Associated Press poll to repeat as national champs, the Sooners started to slip by narrowly edging Miami after walloping Oregon 62-7 and Pitt 46-10. They fell from the

Cowboys to take chances

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys says his surprise team will take more chances Sunday than will the Los Angeles Rams, but he still counts on defense to win the game.

Defense has been the forte of the Rams, who were 12-2 in the regular season and then beat St. Louis 35-23 in the opening Super Bowl playoff game.

"I hope it will be a tough defensive game," Landry said on his arrival in Los Angeles, "because then we have a chance. We have players capable of playing great defense.

The National Football Conference championship game is scheduled Sunday at 1:05 p.m. PST with all 91,038 seats in the Los Angeles Coliseum sold out. The game will be televised locally as well as nationally.

Coach Chuck Knox of the Rams announced that his regular quarterback James Harris has recovered from a shoulder injury and will start against the Cowboys. It could be revenge for Harris, who completed just one pass for five yards against the Cowboys as Dallas won the season opener 18-7. In practice, reserve Ron Jaworski has been playing the part of the Cowboys' Roger Staubach, who threw the 50-yard pass that beat Minnesota 17-14 last Sunday.

'We played them and we got our butts whipped," said Knox of the first meeting of the regular season with Dallas. "Who's kidding who? We know their type of football.

Knox has lost five regulars via injuries, but he has both Harris and offensive tackle Charlie Cowan back from the injured list for this title game leading to the Super Bowl.

"I don't think anyone really has the field advantage," added Knox with his tongue not visably in his cheek.

However, the natural turf of the Coliseum has aided the Rams and the sellout crowd will be cheering the home town club-and Knox knows it. His clubs are 21-2 at home in the three years he's been coaching in Los

"The first two games were just the same old hat," Switzer said. "We got half a hundred and it was just like it used to be. But then we struggled. I didn't think we'd go through the season undefeated. I knew it had to happen sooner or later. In fact, we might have come closer to an unbeaten season than

Oklahoma got back into the voters' good graces by thumping Nebraska, the No. 2 team at the time, 35-10 in the regular-season windup. That lifted the Sooners to No. 3. Second-ranked Texas A&M then obliged by losing to Arkansas and Southern California and Ohio State died on New Year's Day.

"Obviously this team was not as successful as the last two because we lost a game," Switzer said. "But a lot of teams have lost a ball game and won the national championship. We were close to being what we've always been on defense, but offensively, we didn't fit in the same category.

In repeating as national titlists, the Sooners received 541/2 first-place votes from a nationwide panel of 63 sports writers and broadcasters. Unbeaten Arizona State, 12-0, was second, followed by Alabama, Ohio State and meeting that attracted hunof physicians and dreds scientists.

The list of scientific accomplishments was spellbinding. The ingenuity and practical applications of scientific research as they were presented at the meeting give enormous hope for the saving of people too young to die.

At one session, Dr. Eugene Braunwald, of the Harvard Medical School, reported heartsaving measures in a pioneering study on animals.

He said, "Methods are now at hand with the potential to save the lives and improve the quality of life of many heart attack patients.

"Thus far, novel forms of treatment have been applied in only a few pilot studies in humans, but with highly promising results."

Another group of scientists reported a new technique for substance purifying manufactured by the kidney and one that may hold the vital key to high blood pressure.

It is known that the substance, renin, released by the kidney into the blood stream, is responsible for the sudden narrowing of blood vessels and

In addition, the company says it is investigating $98,000 scheduled for payment to officials in two foreign countries to determine whether the payments are legitimate.

The company disclosed the payments and scheduled payments in its periodic filing of significant events with the

The company previously had not disclosed existence of the committee.

Picketing bill vetoed by Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) - An override of President Ford's veto of a bill to expand picketing rights for construction unions is considered unlikely.

Ford vetoed the bill Friday, as he had said he would do, saying it would cause "greater, not lesser, conflict in the construction industry.

The bill, sought by labor leaders for 25 years, passed Congress this year for the first time. However, neither the House nor the Senate came close to the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto.

It was his 44th veto since he took office in August 1974 and Congress has been able to override only seven of the previous vetos.

The President said there was a risk the bill would lead to loss of jobs in the construction trades, higher costs for the public and further slowdown in a basic industry

Another key proposal would require dealers to spell out in advance exactly what service or repairs, if any, would be covered under warranty. If a car is offered for sale without warranty, that too would have to be disclosed before

"Potential purchasers are not in a position to determine the mechanical condition of the vehicles under consideration and dealers, who know or should know of the defects, do not inform the prospective purchaser of such defects," the FTC said.

Violations could bring fines of up to $10,000 per day. The rules would apply only to dealers, not individual sellers.

The FTC said dealers frequently recondition the appearance of a car, while ignoring serious mechanical defects.

Implementation of the regulations, pending final approval, could take up to 18 months.

In announcing the proposed rules, the commission tentatively rejected a related staff recommedation that would give consumers the right to have any used car inspected by an outside mechanic before the sale.

But Ford was under heavy pressure from right-to-work factions, contractors and conservatives in the Republican party to reject the measure.

The bill would have enabled construction unions to picket and possibly shut down an entire job site even though their dispute was with only one subcontractor.

It also would have provided machinery designed to bring quicker and less inflationary settlements, which Dunlop said would bring stability to the industry.

"The collective bargaining provisions have great merit; it is to the common sites picketing title that I address my objections," the President said in his veto message.

Ford said he hoped the bill would provide a resolution of special labormanagement problems and would have had the support of all parties.

"My earlier optimism in this regard was unfounded," he said. "My reasons for this veto focus primarily on the vigorous controversy surrounding the measure and the possibility this bill could lead to greater, not lesser, conflict in the construction industry."

The President said there are "intense differences between union and nonunion contractors and labor over the extent to which this bill constitutes a fair and equitable solution to a longstanding issue.'

Ford has acknowledged he told Dunlop he would sign the picketing bill, but called him aside after a White House meeting last week and told him he had changed his mind.

Dunlop later told reporters he was unhappy and he wanted to take two or three weeks to consider whether to resign. Ford has urged him not to quit.

Elderly, handicapped benefiting from 'Meals on Wheels' program

Record-Herald Staff Writer

A hot and well-balanced meal has become a daily part of the lives of some 25 elderly persons residing in Washington C.H. and surrounding areas.

For only $1.10, the senior citizen may receive the nutritious food delivered at his home by a volunteer of the "Meals on Wheels" program.
The Fayette County Council for

Elderly Concerns is the sponsoring agent in the project created in 1973 to 'maintain or restore an individual's health while maintaining the highest degree of independence and normality for the individual." The program not only attempts to help those aged people who are not able to prepare an adequate meal for themselves at home but it also serves the handicapped as

Currently, five volunteers each take a particular route having approximately four to five recipients on it, and deliver the meals between 11:45 and 12:45 p.m. each day except Saturdays and Sundays. The food, prepared in the kitchen of the First Baptist Church, corner of East and S. North Streets, is kept in hot and cold compartments of an insulated carrying chest until delivery.

There are a total of 20 volunteer drivers in the program, and therefore, each person performs his services once a week, devoting about 20 to 30 minutes of his time on each occasion. A back-up force of eight to 10 substitutes stand ready to cover a particular route in the event that a regular volunteer must miss his day.

The Rev. Ralph Wolford, pastor of the First Baptist Church and coordinator of the program, stresses the fact that the meals should be ordered on a weekly basis, and not just for various days. If it can be demonstrated by a particular person that he is unable to afford the full cost of each meal, then 50 per cent of the expense will be paid for through special funds donated by various sponsors.

An average meal may consist of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, buttered mixed vegetables, hot rolls, pears, and cookies. The $1.10 charge covers the cost of this food and 12 cents for the sectioned metal tray in which the hot meal is served. The two cooks are salaried through the Eyman Trust Fund and the income received from the Kiddie Care Center. There is no government funding, and each volunteer driver provides services without any form of monetary reimbursement.

Though the meal service is the primary concern of the program, Rev. Wolford notes that another benefit is the fact that the daily excursions to each household also provide a means of checking up on the recipients to see if they are in good health. Each driver carries a card which lists not only the elderly person's address, but also the name and telephone number of the family physician. Until last summer, when the Fayette County Community Action Commission provided volunteers for another daily route, there were only four lines maintained each day. According to Rev. Wolford, no one who has ordered the "Meals on Wheels" has been turned down because of lack of means to deliver the food. However, it is hoped that three more volunteers may be added to the ranks of those already serving. Any one who wishes to offer his services once a week may call Rev. Wolford at the First Baptist Church.

Bank robberies on increase

WASHINGTON (AP) - FBI officials say bank robberies are occurring at a record pace across the nation, partly because of the sagging economy and because banks "are pretty easy targets."

FBI statistics show 50 per cent more bank robberies in fiscal year 1975 than in the previous year. Officials say there has been no sign of a significant decline since the fiscal year ended June 30.

"If you're looking for water, you go to the well. If you're looking for money, you go to the bank," remarked Ben-jamin H. Cooke, chief of the FBI's criminal section.

"Perhaps unemployment causes people who would not otherwise rob banks to rob banks to pay their bills," added Clyde E. Whitson, chief of the FBI bank robbery unit. Cooke and Whitson discussed the recent increase in bank robberies in an interview.

But while the number of bank robberies is going up, the loot is getting smaller. Robbers carried off an average of $3,598 in 1974, compared with an average of $4,653 in 1973, according to FBI statistics.

"When you get down to it, bank robbers are some of the poorest-paid people in the world," Cooke said. "Twenty-five hundred dollars isn't much for a 10-year prison sentence."

More Americans die on mountains

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) - More Austria reflect an average of 36 deaths Americans than ever are seeking the solitude of a snowy mountainside for a winter day's leisure. And more Americans than ever are dying in the

An average of 12 persons a year have died in avalanches during the last five years, twice the average annual toll for the last quarter century, says a report released Friday by the U.S. Forest

Last winter alone, 22 persons died, including eight in Colorado. This winter has begun with the deaths in November a cross-country skier near Juneau. Alaska, and a snowshoer in Washington's Mt. Rainier National

"It's the old urge to get back to nature," says Knox Williams, a Forest Service metorologist who compiled the "Year-to-25-year avalanche study. year more people are getting back into places they wouldn't have gone five vears ago.

"With the desire to get away from the crowd ... many winter sports enthusiasts are now crossing steep slopes that had not before seen a climber, skier or snowmobiler. With more people taking risks, the number of avalanche victims can only increase.'

Even at the 12-deaths-per-year average of the last five years, Williams' figures show that the United States has a much better record than the European Alps. Latest figures for a year, and in Switzerland the average The problem is a little bit different in the Alps," Williams said. "They have villages in avalanche paths. We haven't come to that yet.' Williams' figures show that 100 fatal avalanches during the last 25 years have killed 147 persons, most of those mountain climbers, downhill and crosscountry skiers. Avalanches are supposed to be controlled in ski areas, generally developed on public land leased from

"Unfortunately that's not true," Williams said. "I've traveled to every ski area in the West, and all have competent ski patrols, and they all realize that the areas are not definitely safe."

The most effective control is the use of explosives to trigger snowslides intentionally, Williams said. Avalanches are caused by a restructuring of snow crystals in the packed base of layered snow into what is known as "depth hoar." The crystals get bigger, don't cling properly and can give way under the weight of a skier or Colorado's problem is that winters are too cold, forcing the crystal restructuring that makes snowbanks dangerous, Williams said. On the West Coast, where winters are warmer, the phenomenon occurs at a much slower rate, and avalanches are rarer.

Youth shot; survives

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) - Tommy Wilson already has a lot to be thankful for this year. He's alive.

Wilson, 32, was resting comfortably Friday after being shot between the eyes early New Year's Day at a prayer service in a friend's home

A hospital spokesman said the bullet traveled downward and lodged at the base of Wilson's neck. 'It was a miracle, " said Genevieve

DeVoe, Wilson's host at the prayer service, "to be shot the way he was and for the bullet not to do any more damage than it did."

She said she believes area residents were shooting guns to celebrate the new year. Wilson, an unemployed father of five, and about eight others looked toward a large, drape-covered picture window when the shooting started. A shot shattered the glass and struck Wilson, she said.

Police believe the bullet came from a .38-caliber pistol.

Bank robbery suspects "have indicated they have a narcotics problem or they need the money for any number of things — they like to have a good time, they need it to pay bills, they want to buy gifts for a girlfriend or buy a new car," Whitson said.

The robbers themselves, he continued "will also tell you that books."

tinued, "will also tell you that banks are pretty easy targets."

Many banks now are built in suburban shopping centers with easy access to superhighways, providing the robbers with a "quick getaway" from the area and even out of the city, Whitson noted.

And many banks no longer look like fortresses. Perhaps in an effort to seem more inviting to customers, banks have installed low counters at tellers' windows and have few physical barriers between the teller and the customer, he noted.

With FBI encouragement, bankers are taking more and more security precautions such as installing more sophisticated alarm systems and closed-circuit television cameras and hiring armed guards, said Cooke and Whitson.

But bank robberies are increasing at a rate far higher than the nation's general crime rate.

The most recent FBI figures show that the nation's over-all crime rate was 11 per cent higher in the first nine months of 1975 than in the same period a year earlier. The statistics are based on the number of murders, rapes, robberies, burglaries, assaults, lar-cenies and vehicle thefts reported to local police.

For the five-year period, 1969-74, robberies increased 48 per cent while all crimes together rose only 38 per cent. But during the same period, bank robberies increased 94 per cent. Only the rate for robberies of chain stores up 184 per cent — was higher.

In the first half of 1975, banks lost a total of $15.1 million to robbers and burglars but law enforcement authorities recovered $9.4 million of it.

Milk cow prices down across U.S.

price of a milk cow in 1975 is estimated at $408 nationally, down nearly onefifth from record prices of the previous two years, according to Agriculture Department dairy economists.

In 1974 the average cost of a cow was $500 and in 1973 it was $496, the department says in a year-end review of the dairy situation. The decline reflects the general slide in cattle prices since the record peaks of 1973, but also indicates that for much of the past few years the dairy business has had its financial troubles.

Recent high prices for milk, however, have changed it around and dairy farmers - according to USDA statisticians — are in the best economic situation in some time.

For example, according to the department's Economic Research Service, the slide in cow prices and the boost in what farmers get for milk means that it took an average of 48 hundredweight of milk to pay for a 1975model cow

In 1974, when cow prices were higher and milk cheaper, a cow had to produce 60 hundredweight of milk to pay for work was around 60 per cent.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The average herself. And in 1973 the cowmilk ratio was 69 hundredweight. The 48 hundredweight estimated for this year is the least since the 1950s, according to USDA records.

Milk production nationally has averaged more than 100 hundredweight per cow annually since 1970, including nearly 103 hundredweight per animal in

The analysis also showed that productivity on the nation's dairy farms has risen sharply in recent years, largely due to farmers seeking ways to survive the financial crunch. Larger herds, improved management and higher feeding rates per cow have been a part of the scene.

In 1974, for example, dairy farmers used about nine minutes of direct labor per cow to produce milk, down 6 per cent from 1973, officials said.

'Labor productivity gains in dairy farming compare quite favorably with other agricultural enterprises," the report said. "Output per man-hour in dairying more than doubled in the past decade, while the increase for all farm

Cattlemen see better times

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's financially depressed cattle industry appears to be headed for a solid recovery, at least so far as feedlot operations are concerned, according to Agriculture Department livestock

'After almost two years of depressed profits, feedlots are filling up, and feeders are once again making money," says George Hoffman, an analyst in USDA's Economic Research Service. "That's not to say that everything's rosy in the cattle in-

Many ranchers and farmers who have cow herds are still losing money on calves because of large inventories of animals. But further herd cullings and heavy cow slaughter, some experts feel, may put the feeder cattle market back on profitable grounds within a year or possibly sooner.

back into feedlots this fall, following a period of hesitation in the summer, Hoffman said in a report published today in the December issue of Farm Index. "After 20 months of financial losses, they had been understandably cautious about placing cattle on feed, especially while grain markets were

But placements of new cattle in feedlots in July-September were up 22 per cent from the third quarter of last year and there have been further gains this fall. As a result more grain-fed beef will be reaching market in the months ahead.

The reason for the optimism centers on the big grain crops farmers have harvested this year. Despite record exports, the supply is so large that prices are much lower than they had been. Thus, it has become more profitable to feed corn and other grain to livestock than it had been.

Sheep, lamb sale

A total of 341 head of sheep and lambs were sold at auction Friday at the Producers Livestock Association. Sold were 203 choice clip lambs, $49.50-$50.40; 30 choice wool lambs, $46.10-$48.60; 62 feeder lambs, $47.50down; 30 slaughter sheep, $15.20-down and 16 ewes at $22.50 per head.

The market was approximately $3 higher than two weeks ago.

All barrows entered must weigh between 195 and 240 pounds and must have been farrowed on or after July 15, 1975.

Complete rules and entry forms are available at the Extension Office. This years' barrow show will again be preceded by the All Ohio Swine Banquet, Friday evening, January 9, 7 p.m. in the Rhodes Center on the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

THE NEXT Ohio Performance Tested Boar Sale is scheduled for Saturday, January 10, at 3 p.m. following the Buckeye Barrow Show. The boar sale will be held at the Swine

Evaluation Station on Case Road across from Don Scott Airport.

The sale catalog lists some impressive data on the boars to be sold. These include the top 75 per cent of the boars on test at the Evaluation Station. All of the boars have been screened. Requirements for the sale are such that all of the boars should be of value to commercial pork producers in herd improvement.

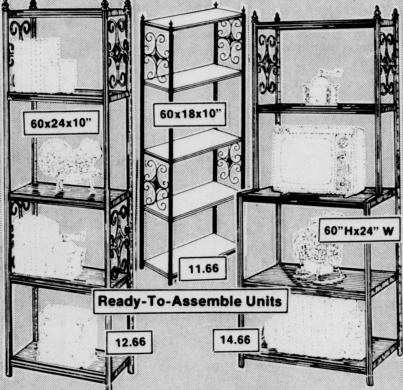

Two Fayette County breeders have boars entered in the sale. Owens Duroc Farm, Jeffersonville and Lester Jordan, Washington C.H., each have two boars selling in the sale.

TICKETS are available for the January 19 annual meeting and banquet of the Fayette County Cattlefeeders Association. Ticket price is set at $6 and the tickets are available from any director of the Cattlefeeders Association, at the Chamber of Commerce Office, Producers Livestock Yards or the Extension Office. The Cattlefeeders are encouraging that any farmer or businessman who plans to attend purchase their tickets in advance. Only a limited number of tickets will be available at the door.

Speaker for this year's Cattlefeeders Banquet will be Marty Brennaman radio voice of the Cincinnati Reds.

WE HAVE had several requests in the last few weeks for copies of the 1976-77 Agronomy Guide and the 1975 Ohio Corn Performance Test Results. Unfortunately we have not yet received copies of these two publications. Hopefully, they will be available within the next week or tow. We'll let you know when they arrive!

Opinion And Comment

Fencing the town range

Alas for the freedom to roam and graze at will! Some towns in the West are taking steps to curb freeranging animals - cattle, horses, donkeys - which have made themselves a nuisance by trampling gardens and turning manicured lawns into pastures.

In the neighboring Colorado gold rush towns of Citor and Cripple Creek it's wild burros that cause the These descendants of animals brought in by prospectors around the turn of the century have become pesky to the townspeople.

Cows and horses were bad enough, but as one resident of Citor noted, 'The donkeys were smarter and could open fence gates with their

Both towns now have ordinances forbidding unsupervised mean-dering by animals. The burros are being rounded up and transported out of town - except for a few which will be on public view in pens as a reminder of early days.

The town of Payson, Ariz., has approached the matter differently.

A fence - some 12 to 15 miles of it will be built around the entire town to keep range cattle out on the range. It's a cooperative project involving Payson folk, the U.S. Forest Service, and ranchers in the area.

In most of the country, it is cats and dogs that cause problems and force passage of leashing laws. Out West it's different. With cows and horses and burros roaming around you've got to fence them in or fence them out if you don't want your tomato patch raided.

Cursed box yields old memorabilia

ST. LOUIS (AP) - On New Year's Day of 1876, Ezeriah Williamson Hoopes of Philadelphia wrote a curse on a simple pine box in which was placed memorabilia of the nation's centennial.

The curse, to last until Jan. 1, 1976, declared: "If any dare this box invade, Ere five score years save one, By heaviest curse be on him laid, He ne're shall have a son, But in old age shall on the world be thrown, Without a friend, Unhonored and unknown."

For 100 years the Hoopes family honored Ezeriah's wishes. But at 2 p.m. Thursday, the box was opened by his grandchildren, Dr. Alban Williamson Hoopes of Oneonta, N.Y., and Dr. Thomas T. Hoopes of St. Louis.

"It was largely more or less what we had expected," said Thomas Hoopes, a curator of the St. Louis Art Museum from 1936 to 1964, of the box's contents. Inside the box the grandchildren found brochures advertising sewing machines, scales, harvesting equipment, yellowed newspapers, a silk hat and a "Centennial doll baby." "I remember my aunt when she was a very old lady, told me about how my grandfather had the box made," Thomas Hoopes said. "He sealed it up with nails after each member of the family had made contributions ... letters for posterity telling something of their lives and about life in general. The grandfather, a Philadelphia accountant who died in 1903, sealed the box with nails and applied two wax

Thomas Hoopes said no one in the family was tempted to open the chest

"No, that wouldn't have been the right thing to do," the 78-year-old man said. It was the kind of curse, he implied, that nobody wanted to take lightly.

Ohio Perspective

New, longer-lasting license plates set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Ohio already is stocked up for the sale next spring of more than eight million sets of red and white 1976 license plates.

Walter Arrowsmith, administrative assistant in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, says the plates will have to last for three years and maybe longer. They are more stable—twice as thick as present ones.

Starting in 1977, they'll be renewed annually with validation stickers same as the old green on white 1974 tags now being used with stickers for their second year.

Arrowsmith said the new plates are made of aluminum, and will withstand weather better than the old rolled steel and galvanized steel variety. Plans already are set for the same plates to be used with stickers in the 1977 and 1978 registration years. They may be extended even longer It depends, he said, on negotiations now in progress with the Minnesota

Mining and Manufacturing Co., the contractor for the laminant used to make the plates reflective. "We're waiting to see the kind of guarantee they can offer. The plates could be used until 1980," the bureau

The plates, most of them already stored in a Columbus warehouse, are the same size as this year's. Letters and numerals and the border are a bright red. The background is what Arrowsmith described as a "yellowish white" that is supposed to become whiter with exposure to the sun.

Gone from the 1976 tags is the slogan "Seat Belts Fastened?", an idea of the administration of former Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Curtis Andrews, registrar of the bureau, said the deletion was decided on in part because "it's awfully hard to get it (the slogan) printed on there." He also said taking it away gives more room for applying the validation

Ohio Penal Industries at Lebanon, Ohio, manufactures the plates, at a cost of about $1.29 a set. Arrowsmith said the correctional facility also is equipped to stamp the validation stickers, starting in 1977.

Phone 335-3480 Bill 335-5347 Dick 335-5656 federally inspected packing plants was down 6 per cent in November from the same month in 1974 because of a continuing slide in pork output, despite a 1 per cent increase in beef, according to the Agriculture Department.

The new figures, released by USDA late Tuesday, also showed that total red meat production in the first 11 months of 1975 was down 4 per cent from the same period of last year. Beef was up 3 per cent but there was 17 per cent less pork and 13 per cent less lamb and mutton. Veal production, on the other hand, soared 90 per cent.

More beef is produced in the United States than any other type of meat, totaling more than 21.6 billion pounds during January-November of 1975, compared with 10.3 billion pounds of pork, 750 million pounds of veal, and 367 million pounds of lamb and mutton. Retail prices of both beef and pork climbed to record levels earlier this year but have declined somewhat in recent months because of lower farm prices of livestock. Department experts say that beef production will rise again in 1976 and that if farmers proceed with current breeding plans there will be more pork after midyear.

During the first 11 months of the year, the average live weight of cattle slaughtered was 996 pounds, a 4 per cent drop from the 11-month average of 1,040 pounds in 1974.

Record exports of farm products seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The flow of wheat, corn and other commodities from farms to ships for delivery to foreign countries is progressing smoothly and in line with record exports projected for 1975-76, an Agriculture Department analyst said

Three years ago, when the huge bulge in U.S. farm exports was just under way, the grain movement was snarled badly by shortages of rail cars and ocean carriers, port congestion and labor bottlenecks.

Deborah D. Pollock of USDA's Economic Research Service said there have been several reasons for the improved situation since that time, including the nation's economic recession, which has meant diminished industrial demand for transport equipment" which has meant more to help move farm products.

Also, Miss Pollock said, there is a larger rail car and barge capacity than there was in 1972-73. Another reason is that shipments were delayed for four months three years ago while a new shipping rate agreement was negotiated with the Soviet Union.

The analysis was included in a weekly "Foreign Agriculture" report by the department's Foreign Agricultural Service. 'At its worst, the 1972-73 tieup saw local elevators overflowing with grain and soybeans for want of rail cars, other shipments stalled en route, and shipping of grain to many ports 'embargoed' because of lack of storage space," Miss Pollock said.

As a result of the 1972-73 difficulties, nearly 60 per cent of the wheat exports and about 50 per cent of the corn and soybeans had to be moved in the last half of the fiscal year between Jan. 1 and June 30.

The congestion also spilled over into the following fiscal year

This season, she said, more than 60 per cent of the wheat anticipated for foreign delivery in 1975-76 had been exported by early December. Shipments of corn also were "considerably above the average required" to reach the total projected by next June 30.

Miss Pollock said that railroads have added more large covered hopper cars to their fleets. Those are about 50 per cent larger than the traditional boxcars, which have declined in number. Thus, she said, railroads now have increased their net grain carrying capacity by about 2 per cent from 1972-

NEW Policy differences with farmers seen

WASHINGTON (AP) - Peanut policy differences between Southern growers and Ford administration farm officials may be headed toward some type of compromise, although both sides are noncommittal at this stage.

The dispute involves changes made in government peanut price support operations by the Agriculture Department, mainly the mainer in which the government is acquiring and disposing of surplus stocks.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has tried unsuccessfully in recent years to get peanut law changes through Congress so that growers can operate under a market-oriented "target price" system in use for wheat, corn and cotton and also to reduce federal

But congressional leaders, including Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., have balked and insist on keeping the older system of strict acreage allotments and price supports.

The USDA, meanwhile, will not sell peanuts acquire under price support export at cut-rate prices as done in the past. Consequently, U.S. peanut exports are dropping and government stockpiles increasing. Another change, put into effect earlier this year for 1974-crop peanuts, is a plan by which processors crush surplus peanuts for the government and turn the oil over to USDA in exchange for keeping the meal. All told, those policies add up to higher costs to the government.

Georgia farm officials accuse Butz of engineering the more expensive policies in a deliberate attempt to discredit the program by boosting its costs and thereby calling public attention to it.

But Kenneth E. Frick, head of the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, says the program "is so out of date" and bad to begin with that no one could discredit it further.

Although decisions have not been disclosed, Georgia farm leaders this week talked about a "two price" plan as a possible way to help trim federal costs and reach a compromise with the

Officials said the total includes nearly 10 million tons which already had been shipped by Dec. 14 and about 9.2 million tons in outstanding sales for delivery this season.

PLANNING A WARDROBE THAT WORKS

Planning a Wardrobe that really works is fun. It eliminates that "I don't have a thing to wear" problem! Learn to solve your clothing dilemma by enrolling in the "Wardrobe That Works Independent Study Course" sponsored by the Fayette County Cooperative Extension Service.

This course is designed to take you through the wardrobe planning process. Participants will examine their present wardrobe needs and decide which garments can be made into complete outfits.

Lessons included are: 1. - "Look at Yourself" which will help you examine personal coloring figure lines and

2. - "Shape Up Your Plan" provides guidelines for your wardrobe's new

3. - "Ship Out or Reshape" gives resources and directions for recycling those garments you are not wearing. "Build On For a Complete Wardrobe" shows you how to use fashion scarves for many new looks as well as make other fashion additions to complete your outfits.

You will receive booklets on fashion trends, clothing repair, stain removal, recycling ideas, decorative directions for patchwork and quilting, tying scarves and ties. Maternity wardrobe suggestions and other clothing helps will be available upon request.

To register for the course send your name and address along with $1.00 to Gladys Kirk at the Fayette County Extension Service, 319 South Fayette Street, Washington C.H., Ohio 43160, before January 15. The registration fee covers all four lessons and booklets mentioned

BECOME A SUPER SALES SLEUTH Ah, tis the season of sales! By exercising your best shopping skills, you can use sales to save clothing dollars. Remember that sales are planned to get you to buy, so don't get too carried away with all those bargains. Before shopping the sales, check the family wardrobes carefully and know what items are needed.

With good wardrobe planning, you can buy items on sale that fit into the current wardrobe. Money saved on a sale item may be money wasted - if you have to buy something else to go with your new purchase.

It also helps to be familiar with prices. Sometimes we buy an item because a sign or ad says the item is on sale. Then we discover that a similar item — perhaps even a better quality item — is available in another store at regular price or less.

If you don't know prices, do some price comparing. Check to see, too, if you can return the item. Often stores have a "no return" policy about sale

Remember that some sales offer better bargains. End-of-season or clearance sales are often the best buys with reductions of 25 to 50 per cent. These sales consist of regular stock, so styles and sizes will be limited. These "leftovers" may be soiled or damaged so add the cost of cleaning and repair to the sale price. Shop early for the best

Some special purchase sales may offer irregulars, seconds or imperfects. Check such items very carefully. Irregulars may have imperfections in color, weave, knit or size that will not affect the wear of the garment. Seconds may have obvious faults that may or may not affect wearing quality. Savings at special purchases sales may be 15 to 20 per cent. Be sure the quality is good as you need or usually buy.

Some stores or manufacturers have annual sales and offer a reduction on specified items for a short time, then return the stock to regular price. Hosiery is often sold this way. Savings usually amount to 10 to 15 per cent.

To save on sales, you know what wardrobe items are needed. Then you'll be better able to resist temptation. Impulse buying may keep you from being able to buy something you really need.

Tippi Hedren's daughter joins Hollywood's 'Teen Troupe'

By TIM WHITE

Associated Press Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Melanie Griffith doesn't look like a spoiled, vengeful runaway, or a psychopath, or a selfdestructive young nymphomaniac. Off-screen, that is

But in "Night Moves" and "The Drowning Pool," two new films in which she appears, the svelte, blonde 18-year-old daughter of actress Tippi Hedren handles those roles quite well indeed. In fact, even she's surprised at how adroitly she assumed the traits and mannerisms necessary for a convincing performance.

"In 'Night Moves,' the director, Arthur Penn, kept asking me to act sexy and swing my hips," Miss Griffith explains. "It took me a white just to get over the embarrassment of being requested to do those things. But Mr. Penn was patient, really nice, and he understands emotions. He gave me another outlook on the role and then let me understand the girl on my own, without always telling me what to do.

"I guess I worked it out," she says with a tiny chirping giggle, one aspect of a small, high-pitched but slightly whispery voice.

The voice is one of the few undersized things about this budding young actress. Her leggy, curvy, 5-foot-8 inch frame is hardly childish, and her film debut downright conspicuous considering her first two leading men were Gene Hackman in "Night Moves" and Paul Newman in "The Drowning Pool.

"Gene was a super nice man and I loved Paul Newman and his wife, Joanne Woodward," she says. "They both have a great sense of humor and we had a swell time on the set. Paul was a little bit more difficult to work with, though, because I was taller than him. In all our scenes standing together, I had to be barefoot.'

Miss Griffith's start in films was pure happenstance.

Though she was a student in Hollywood Professional High School alma mater of such as Judy Garland and had a background in commercials and modeling, Melanie insists she had no interest in acting. Karen Lamm, a friend of hers, was tested for the role of the sexually intemperate teen-ager in "Night Moves." She was turned down, but was thoughtful enough to suggest Melanie, whom Penn decided was Urged on by girlfriend Mackenzie Phillips, who played the gawky, adventure-hungry brat in "American Graffiti," she accepted the part.

After regaining Madison Plains High School following a year's layoff, the South Central Ohio League had a nice round number of eight member schools going into the 1975-76 sports season.

The number will back down to at least seven after this school year, when Unioto drops from the league after a short two year membership.

The Shermans possibly have yearnings to rejoin the Ross County League which would make Unioto the largest school in that league after being the smallest school in the SCOL.

One could hardly blame the Shermans for making the switch to the RCL or to another league after floundering near the bottom of the SCOL standings in the two major sports — football and basketball.

Unioto held its own in other sports winning the SCOL baseball title the last two season and taking the goft crown in 1974, but the Shermans finished next to last in football this year and looked like sure canditates for the Cange cellar after five league games.

A switch to a league not comprised of class AA and AAA schools would do wonders for the Tanks moral which is reportedly very low after getting off to an 0-5 start in the SCOL cage race.

The stiff competition of the SCOL was undoubtedly the reason for the Shermans' pull out and it may well be the reason that East Clinton rejected an SCOL invitation for membership last fall.

The SCOL would like to keep its membership at eight schools mainly for scheduling reasons, but in recent years the league has been functioning with six or seven members.

Washington C.H., Circleville, Wilmington, Greenfield, McClain, and Hilsboro were original members in the SCOL which is incidently the oldest high school athletic league in Ohio. Miami Trace joined the league in 1960 making it basically a six-school league which has seen Franklin Heights, Pleasant View, Madison Plains and now Unioto come and go — in the case of Madison Plains come and go and come again.

Ever since Washington C.H. threatened to pull out of the league in 1957 on grounds that the SCOL had no fut

Wake Forest upsets N.C.

GREENSBORO, N.C (AP) — Wake Forest, unbeaten but unranked, made a strong bid to move into the Top Twenty by stunning third-rated North Carolina 95-83 Friday night in a first-round matchup in the Big Four tournament.

But there's no time for pats on the back-the Deacons must face ninthranked North Carolina State in the tourney final tonight. "We certainly deserve some attention in the national rankings," said Coach Carl Tacy, coach of Wake Forest, 9-0. A victory over North Carolina State, 8-0 and a 104-95 winner over Duke Friday behind Kenny Carr's career-high 45 points, would un-doubtedly persuade many of the voters

In other games involving nationally ranked teams, No. 4 UCLA ran away from Denver in the second half and posted a 111-79 triumph; No. 14 Rutgers defeated Stetson 91-70, and No. 19 San Francisco edged Texas A&M 77-75 in the opening round of the Bluebonnet Classic at Houston.

In handing North Carolina its first loss after six triumphs, Wake Forest played without junior star Skip Brown, for the final 17 minutes after he injured

"Without Brown, and with Daryl Peterson in foul trouble, we showed we were made of stern stuff," said Tacy. 'Those two are a good piece of our team, but without them we really pulled ourselves up by our bootstraps. For a while, we forgot we had to have a serious inside threat. But we got Rod Griffin playing like he can, and Lee Foye hit a couple inside. Mark Dale, subbing for Brown, gave us someone to control our offense when we needed it."

Jerry Schellenbergh ad 24 points for Wake Forest, Griffin 17 and Brown 16. Phil Ford of North Carolina took game

Coach Dean Smith of North Carolina said, "We fell behind early, Forest hit everything they threw up Wake Forest has a very fine team, but we will be back.'

N.C. State led Duke 49-48 at halftime, spurted to a 10-point lead shortly after intermission and was never seriously threatened thereafter.

Oklahoma named grid champ

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — In this same city where Barry Switzer saw Oklahoma's title hopes begin to fade more than three months ago, the Sooners made it all the way back and repeated as college football's national champions.

'After we only beat Miami 20-17 back in September, I didn't think we could repeat," Switzer admitted Friday after Oklahoma became the seventh team in history-including Bud Wilkinson's 1955-56 Sooners-to win consecutive national crowns. "I questioned whether we could have three undefeated seasons in a row.

The Sooners didn't, finally tasting defeat in Switzer's third campaign as head coach in a shocking 23-3 loss to

But they recovered in the season's final weeks with victories over Missouri and Nebraska and leapfrogged from seventh place following the Missouri game all the way back to the top by downing Michigan 14-6 in the Orange Bowl Thursday night while No. 1-ranked Ohio State bowed to UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

"I've got to be the luckiest son-of-a-gun in the world," Switzer said. "I told the squad after the Kansas game we'd be laughing and giggling when it was all over, and now three games later we're national champions again.

Cowboys to take chances

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys says his surprise team will take more chances Sunday than will the Los Angeles Rams, but he still counts on defense to win the game.

Defense has been the forte of the Rams, who were 12-2 in the regular season and then beat St. Louis 35-23 in the opening Super Bowl playoff game.

"I hope it will be a tough defensive game," Landry said on his arrival in Los Angeles, "because then we have a chance. We have players capable of playing great defense.

The National Football Conference championship game is scheduled Sunday at 1:05 p.m. PST with all 91,038 seats in the Los Angeles Coliseum sold out. The game will be televised locally as well as nationally

Coach Chuck Knox of the Rams announced that his regular quarterback James Harris has recovered from a shoulder injury and will start against the Cowboys.

It could be revenge for Harris, who completed just one pass for five yards against the Cowboys as Dallas won the season opener 18-7.

In practice, reserve Ron Jaworski has been playing the part of the Cowboys' Roger Staubach, who threw the 50-yard pass that beat Minnesota 17-14 last Sunday

"We played them and we got our butts whipped," said Knox of the first meeting of the regular season with Dallas. "Who's kidding who? We know their type of football.'

Knox has lost five regulars via injuries, but he has both Harris and offensive tackle Charlie Cowan back from the injured list for this title game leading to the Super Bowl. "I don't think anyone really has the field advantage," added Knox with his tongue not visably in his cheek.

However, the natural turf of the Coliseum has aided the Rams and the sellout crowd will be cheering the home town club-and Knox knows it. His clubs are 21-2 at home in the three years he's been coaching in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles has made it to the playoffs the past two years, losing to Dallas and then to Minnesota.

Dallas, under Landry, has been in the playoffs nine of the past 10 years but stands as a six-point underdog this Still, with Staubach and the passoriented shotgun offense the Cowboys are dangerous all the way. "We put in the shotgun as an obvious pass offense because defenses were coming up with obvious formations against the pass," Landry said.

top the next week after squeaking past Colorado 21-20 on a missed extra point, plummeted to sixth upon losing to Kansas and slid to seventh when they had to rally to nip Missouri 28-27.

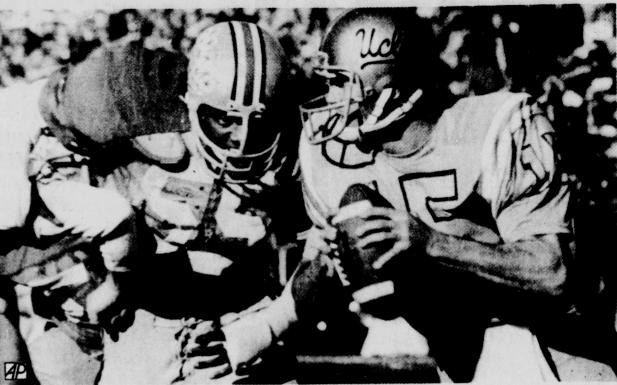

"The first two games were just the same old hat," Switzer said. "We got half a hundred and it was just like it used to be. But then we struggled. I didn't think we'd go through the season undefeated. I knew it had to happen sooner or later. In fact, we might have come closer to an unbeaten season than we should have.'

Oklahoma got back into the voters' good graces by thumping Nebraska, the No. 2 team at the time, 35-10 in the regular-season windup. That lifted the Sooners to No. 3. Second-ranked Texas A&M then obliged by losing to Arkansas and Southern California and Ohio State died on New Year's Day.

"Obviously this team was not as successful as the last two because we lost a game," Switzer said. "But a lot of teams have lost a ball game and won the national championship. We were close to being what we've always been on defense, but offensively, we didn't fit in the same category.

In repeating as national titlists, the Sooners received 54½ first-place votes from a nationwide panel of 63 sports writers and broadcasters. Unbeaten Arizona State, 12-0, was second, followed by Alabama, Ohio State and "The first thing I told our coaches after we beat Nebraska was that we were lucky we didn't have to go and play Arizona State in the Fiesta Bowl. Nebraska, however, did—and lost."

Rhodes names 3 Republicans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Gov. James A. Rhodes has appointed three registered Republicans to the Ohio Rail Transportation Authority which is limited by law to two Republicans and Democrats, the Cleveland Plain Dealer

Transportation Director Richard D. Jackson told the newspaper that one of the appointees perhaps "misled us in terms of their party affiliation."

The bill creating the authority, which was signed by the governor on July 11, limits the authority's members to two Republicans and two Democrats. The group was set up to recommend a railroad plan for the state, including one for passenger service linking Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati and Toledo, Cleveland and Youngstown. State Rep. Arthur Wilkowiski of Toledo, one of the sponsors of the legislation, said the General Assembly probably will raise the issue of the extra Republican perhaps when the appointees come up for confirmation.

The governor could not be reached for comment.

The Republican appointees are Rowland D. Deal of Lima, Paul T. Zellers of Youngstown and Carl E. Freshour of Marion. The Democrat is Dominick P. Insana of Middleburg Heights.

Speaking of Your Health... LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

More Progress in Heart Research

American Heart Association has just completed its 1975 scientific sessions at a meeting that attracted hundreds of physicians and scientists.

The list of scientific accomplishments was spellbinding. The ingenuity and practical applications of scientific research as they were presented at the meeting give enormous hope for the saving of people too young to die.

At one session, Dr. Eugene Braunwald, of the Harvard Medical School, reported heartsaving measures in a pioneering study on animals.

He said, "Methods are now at hand with the potential to save the lives and improve the quality of life of many heart attack patients.

"Thus far, novel forms of treatment have been applied in only a few pilot studies in humans, but with highly promising results."

Another group of scientists reported a new technique for purifying a substance tribution that it makes by manufactured by the kidney and one that may hold the vital key to high blood pressure. It is known that the substance, renin, released by the kidney into the blood stream, is responsible for the sudden narrowing of blood vessels and stance known as "big renin" has now been purified. The scientists believe that this will 'open a new aspect in our knowledge of blood pressure control - knowledge that will no doubt promote a more rational approach to the diagnosis and cure of high blood pressure." The mystifying "Sudden Infant Death Syndrome" (SIDS), or "crib death," that kills apparently healthy infants may soon be prevented. An inherited heart irregularity may help to account for the sudden unexpected death that catastrophically strikes the young infant.

Dr. Barry J. Maron and his co-workers at the National Heart and Lung Institute in Bethesda, Maryland, believe that the new studies may vastly contribute to the better understanding of this strange disorder.

The meetings of The American Heart Association reflect the enormous consupplying funds to physicians, scientists and research workers in hospitals and laboratories all over the world.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled, "Pay Attention to Your Heart." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. ## Firm tells of bribes

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rockwell International Corp. has voluntarily disclosed payment of $570,000 to officials of foreign governments to win contracts overseas.

In addition, the company says it is investigating $98,000 scheduled for payment to officials in two foreign countries to determine whether the payments are legitimate.

The company disclosed the payments and scheduled payments in its periodic filing of significant events with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The SEC has taken court action against several companies to force disclosure of questionable payments, but Rockwell said its disclosure was the product of a voluntary review undertaken by a special committee appointed in July.

The company previously had not disclosed existence of the committee.

Resolutions made by youngsters

MIAMI (AP) - Dogs, neighbors and babysitters fared better than brothers in New Year's resolutions by fourth graders at a Miami school.

"I will not ring my next door neigh-bor's door and run," wrote Jonty Holland, who also spelled out her intention "not to hide in the doorway and jump my sitter."

Cindy Smith resolved she would "not fight with my brother." But she added, "A little sin is hitting your brother. A big sin is hitting the dog."

In an effort to make headlines like these extinct, the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. has joined with several other utilities to form the Ohio Utilities Protection Service.

The service offers a tool-free "Call Before You Dig" telephone number-(800) 362-2764—for "anyone planning to dig with motorized equipment anywhere in Ohio," according to Chuck Gabriel, the service's Ohio Bell

On each call, participating utilities check their records and report back on the location of any buried cable, pipe or other facilities in the area-physically marking them if necessary

Besides Ohio Bell, the service includes Cleveland Electric Illuminating, East Ohio Gas, American Telephone and Telegraph's Long Lines Department, Western Reserve Telephone, Columbia Gas of Ohio, Lorain Telephone, Sohio Pipe Line and the sewer and water departments of Cleveland, Akron and Conton. Negotiations are underway to add

other utilities to the protection service. The participants are connected by teletype to the reporting center at 106 W. Rayes St. in Youngstown, where a four-member staff is headed by Ohio Bell's Ray Davis. Each utility's share of of the total cost is based on the extent of their underground facilities.

'We'd appreciate at least 48 hours advance notice of anyone's plans to dig." Gabriel said. "But we will accept calls anytime if necessary."

Successful operation of the Ohio Utilities Protection Service could save Ohio Bell about one half million dollars a year in restoral costs, Gabiel said. The service has operated on a limited basis in northeastern Ohio for the last two years and in 1973 helped reduce the company's digging damage by half.

WELL, ALMOST - The "cable" Kathy Gregg's sign warns about has not yet been installed beneath this Youngstown street. But when that happens, the Ohio Utilities Protection Service will warn whoever dials 800-362-2764 (toll free) about phone lines and any other buried utility facilities.
